ANTELOPE CANYON SERIES

MYSTIC LIGHT

Mystic Light is part of my Slot Canyon series taken on a Navajo Reservation in the famed Antelope Canyon. Mystic Light won First Place in the Lodi, CA Photography Exhibition.

My day in Antelope Canyon was magical. I visited both Upper and Lower Antelope Canyon. I had a Navajo guide who really helped me locate beautiful spots and light beams shining into the canyon. To top it off, he brought his brother who played the Navajo flute. Absolutely wonderful!!

Antelope Canyon was formed by the erosion of Navajo Sandstone during flash flooding. Over thousands of years, rainwater, especially during monsoon season, runs into the extensive basin above Antelope Canyon and picks up speed and sand as it rushes into the narrow passageways. Over time the passageways erode away, deepening the corridors and smoothing hard edges to form characteristic "flowing" shapes". Ultimately the water flows in to Lake Powell. They are called slot canyons because in some places they are only a couple of feet wide.

IN LIGHT

Light beams in Antelope Canyon are fleeting. A Navajo Guide is required to enter the canyons and they are quite helpful to know when and where the light beams will appear along the lengthy canyon. If all of the conditions are right, this is what you will see for just a few fleeting minutes.

FIREFALL

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK

Horsetail Fall is an amazing natural phenomenon that can occur every February -- if conditions are right. First, it has to snow; second the snow needs to melt so that there is water flowing off of El Capitan; and third, there needs to be clear skies at sunset. A cloudless sky at sunset is often the toughest condition to meet in the mountains in the middle of winter. If all goes right, the falls will light up for about five minutes this is the result. This phenomenon is sometimes called the "Firefall", however, do not confuse this natural phenomenon with the historic, man-made Firefall off Glacier Point that occurred for almost a 100 years, ending in 1968.

You may find more information on Horsetail Fall on my website Blog.

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK

The iconic T.A. Moulton Barn, an iconic symbol of Jackson Hole, Wyoming and Grand Teton National Park, was built by Thomas Alma "T.A." Moulton and his sons over 30 years, becoming a beloved landmark and the "most photographed barn in America" against the backdrop of the Teton Range.

On this particular day, smoke from a nearby wildfire was blanketing the majestic Teton Mountain Range with thick smoke. As such, the iconic photograph of this barn set against the backdrop of the Grand Teton was nowhere to be seen. Instead, I used the smoke to my advantage to capture the rising sun, partially obscured by the smoke, for a completely different view of this famed barn.

The Nāpali Coast, is a 17-mile stretch of dramatic coastline in Kauai, Hawaii, renowned for its towering sea cliffs, lush valleys, and pristine beaches. It's a breathtaking landscape accessible only by foot, boat or helicopter. Millions of years of erosion by the ocean and freshwater streams have shaped the cliffs and valleys, resulting in the unique and awe-inspiring landscape we see today.

WHAT IS ARTISTIC PHOTOGRAPHY?

Artistic Photography is me being creative. I start with my original photograph and I digitally alter and manipulate it to create something new and different. It's not a quick "filter". It's a manual process that I use to create the final result. I often enhance my photographs in styles that mirrors some of my favorite Impressionist painters such as Cezanne, Monet and Van Gogh.

Artistic Photography Commissions are Available.

One unique feature of photographic art is that it can be printed in multiple sizes and on many different printing substrates. This gives me the ability to work with my art collectors to meet their specific art needs that will match the size of their space and their unique decor.

I have chosen printing, presentation and size options for my artwork that work best for each specific art piece. That being said, I can work with you on a specific sizes not listed here to fit a specific spot in your home or I can work with you on many additional framing options or different types of print surfaces or Fine Art Photographic papers. Plus, I am always investigating new and evolving print surfaces.

My goal is to offer first-class art selection and consulting services so that my collectors can purchase art pieces that exactly meet their unique requirements and they can cherish for years to come.

Contact me and let me know how I can help you acquire beautiful art for your home or office.
