

Hi,

Choosing art can be overwhelming but also rewarding. I've created this guide to help you choose the perfect piece of art! I hope these tips are helpful when you are choosing new art for your space.

Tip 1: Connect with the Artwork

Have you ever walked into a room and felt instantly drawn to a particular piece of art? That's the power of connection!

Having an emotional connection to a piece of art may happen because of a long forgotten or oft thought of memory. It may be created from a sense of longing to experience what the art depicts. Consider a piece of art that sparks joy or inspires contemplation for you.

An example of a connection I found with art comes from way back when I was a young adult. I have always loved the sight of a bald eagle and remember purchasing a small framed photo of a bald eagle during a visit to Yellowstone National park from a photographer selling his work at the Old Faithful Lodge. That connection continues as now I photograph bald eagles myself, sometimes in Yellowstone.

Art can spark conversations and connections with others. It can be a way of sharing your interests with others.

You may find that you have a greater connection to art that is on wood because of the natural elements rather than canvas, paper, metal or acrylic.

Tip 2: Consider the Space

Consider the space where you want to display the art. If it will be hung on a wall, review the suggestions that I made in this blog post: "What Size Print Do You Need?" The right piece of art can elevate the entire feel of a room. Need help visualizing the right size: Email me a photo of your space with dimensions.

Imagine a breathtaking landscape photograph, larger than life, commanding attention and infusing your living room with a sense of awe. That's the transformative power of a large print! It can express your style in a bold way and be a conversation starter. A smaller space will feel more expansive and open, decorated with a large print.

Creating a gallery wall from a curated collection of prints such as my curated matted sets will reflect your interests or memories. A collection of prints need not be from the same artist or in the same size or print medium. It can be updated or rearranged as your interests change. You can even change it seasonally to reflect your favorite things about each season. Express your diverse interests on a gallery wall by including a mix of subjects.

Tip 3: Consider Color

Seek out colors that dance harmoniously with your existing decor, creating a symphony of visual delight. Color can transform a space and evoke emotion. Showcase a neutral-toned room with a bold, colorful piece of art as the focal point

Warm colors (reds, oranges, yellows) evoke energy and passion, while cool colors (blues, greens, purples) promote tranquility and relaxation. Specific colors can evoke certain emotions like blue for tranquility or yellow for happiness. Which would you want in a bedroom or maybe the family room? Remember to consider the mood you want for a room when selecting artwork.

My photo Serenity captures the calming blues of a still lake, perfect for a bedroom retreat.

Tip 4 Trust Your Instincts

Your personal taste and intuition will be valuable when selecting art. Keep an open-mind and explore new artists and styles. Art is an investment in your well-being and happiness. Visit my online gallery for inspiration and ideas.

Remember, choosing art is a personal journey. Let these tips guide you, but ultimately, trust your instincts and select pieces that bring you joy and enhance your living space.

Feel free to reach out if you have any questions or need assistance in finding the perfect artwork for your home.

Happy art hunting!

~Connie

Cherbert's Imagery

www.cherbertsimagery.com

www.instagram.com/cherbertsimagery

www.facebook.com/cherbertsimagery